5. Bay Fair Pedestrian Tunnel Accessible Ramp Concept

Susan Poliwka presented on the agenda item, with the full presentation included in the BATF September 2025 agenda packet. She also shared several design concepts for the new tunnel planned at Bay Fair BART Station.

The BATF committee discussed the item. A few concerns and suggestions were provided:

- Danny Kodmur asked how the new tunnel, the Bay Fair BART Station and soon, TOD (Transit Oriented Development) will connect.
- Clarence R. Fischer asked about the ramp with switchbacks and wondered if there would be enough space for a variety of wheelchairs to use.
- Roland Wong voiced that it is important to have good wayfinding when the new tunnel is installed along with good lighting.
- Roland Wong asked if there would be benches in the tunnel for riders to sit down.
- Hillary Brown asked if this project's concept would be used at other BART Stations.
- Anita Ortega stated she would like to see this project completed.
- Joshua Saunders also stated that he did not know there was a tunnel at Bay Fair BART Station. He mentioned he can use the stairs to enter/exit the station.
- Daveed Mandell asked if there would be alternative ways to enter/exit Bay Fair BART Station for those who do not use wheelchairs.
- Roland Wong would like clarification on the location and design of the ramps, including whether the ramps would be zigzag-shaped. He also suggested incorporating seating areas or benches along the ramps for riders to rest.
- Herb Hastings agreed that the current tunnel is in a strange location and understands the confusion about the location.
- Herb Hasting expressed that the new tunnel ramps can be too steep and wanted to know what the ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) requires regarding ramp slope.
- Herb Hastings noted that the existing tunnel runs beneath the train tracks, connecting the Alameda County side to the San Leandro side of the Bay Fair BART Station.

Jerry Grace expressed concern that none of the proposed design diagrams may be suitable for the Bay Fair BART Station.

Esther Wiltz requested that adequate lighting be incorporated into the tunnel design to address safety concerns, particularly for elderly users.

Jaimie San Nicolas stated that the current tunnel is being used as a dumping area and recommended the inclusion of a ramp for bicyclists instead of stairs.
