He was aware the BART paper tickets will be fading out and wanted to know what to do with the BART paper tickets when there is still money available. He wanted to know if BART paper tickets can be cashed out or the money left over has to be transferred to a Clipper Card.
- Dennis Gassaway's second concern was the noise at the Castro Valley BART Station. He stated the station is very loud from the freeway traffic alongside the BART station. He would like to see a sound barrier be installed. Dennis Gassaway stated he is blind and relies on sound from his cane to navigate. He added when it is too noisy, he is not able to hear his cane tapping.

Robert Raburn announced the new BART General Manager is Robert (Bob) Powers. Robert (Bob) Powers has been with BART for the last seven years. Robert (Bob) goal is becoming a world class transit system, focused on the customers, maintain the safety, fare evasion issues we have, and keep being at the forefront of being the leader in the Bay Area.

Gerry Newell thanked Kay Kate for an effective presentation, it was well done, and thank her for the Braille version of the agenda item.

Valerie Buell said the presentation was fabulous. The one piece of feedback she wanted to share was that there are people who might not like to shake hands due to various personal reasons and that they might speak up to say as such. She stated not to take it personal if the individual does not want to shake hands or give a hug and not to react badly to one's request.

5. Expanding Elevator Attendants to Montgomery BART Station and Embarcadero BART Station

Tim Chan presented on the item. Members were allowed to ask questions and/or share any concerns they had after the presentation.

Tim Chan announced the BART Board of Directors passed to expand the elevator attendants program to Montgomery BART Station and Embarcadero BART Station and is scheduled to start in October of 2019. He confirmed that all four down San Francisco BART Stations will have elevator attendants.

Tim Chan shared that he has seen the construction of the secured area on the platform level at the Montgomery BART Station. He announced once the faregate at the platform level is secured and running, the elevator attendants will be there to assist riders to help them how to use the new faregates.

Janet Abelson shared that it can be crowded when there is more than one wheelchair with a stool in the elevator. She would like to see the stool outside of the elevator.

Hale Zukas stated some wheelchairs are very large and need all the space in the elevator to maneuver around.

Laura Timothy suggested putting in a folding stool so that it can be easily be folded away and kept in the elevator.

Randall Glock reminded Elena Van Loo to have a discussion for next month's BATF meeting with BART Staff in regard to bi-directional faregate being a concern at the Montgomery BART Station at the platform level.

Roland Wong is part of Little People of America (LPA). He expressed concerns that little people may get hit on the head as the stacked faregates goes down.

Elena Van Loo wanted to share with members what some of the members said about the prototype stacked faregates at the Richmond BART Station:

- The accessible stacked faregates are louder than before.
- The stacked faregates looks narrower.
- BATF member stated that the accessible faregate closes too early. When she taps her Clipper Card on the disk, she looks at how much money is left on her Clipper Card that takes a couple more seconds. Just as she is going through the faregate, it closes on her. Would like to have the accessible faregates have more time to stay open.
- The accessible faregates works well and I let staff know when the leaves hit my shoulders, there was no concerns.
- When a rider goes through the accessible faregate fast, noticed the faregates remain open for about five more seconds. Was concerned that multiple followed the rider without paying – Fare evasion.

Janet Abelson also added at Richmond BART Station the stacked faregates closed on a baby stroller.

Don Queen stated the loud sound from the prototype stacked faregates at Richmond BART Station startles service animals.

Elena Van Loo informed there was an update information regarding to Fruitvale BART Station pilot faregates. She shared that Greg Lombardi informed her the pilot faregates are not working as well and BART staff is working on this.
